DETAILED ACTION

The Examiner cannot conduct an examination on the merits due to the following 112 issues which need to be resolved in the amended claim language.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 55-58, 61-63, 126-129, 182 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. Applicant's amended claim 126 (from which all other claims depend) recites : "a single crystal thin film formed on an insulating base by heat treating an amorphous semiconductor thin film to form a polycrystalline thin film...". It is understood that annealing an amorphous semiconductor film will result in EITHER a mono (aka) single crystal thin film OR a polycrystalline thin film- however Applicant's claim suggest a single crystal thin film made of polycrystalline. This is lacking support in Applicant's specification.

Claim 55-58, 61-63, 126-129, 182 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. Applicant's amended claim 126 (from which all other claims depend) recites : "a single crystal thin film formed on an insulating base by heat treating an amorphous semiconductor thin film to form a polycrystalline thin film...". It is understood that annealing an amorphous semiconductor film will result in EITHER a mono (aka) single crystal thin film OR a polycrystalline thin film- however Applicant's claim suggest a single crystal thin film made of polycrystalline. This is understood to be a direct contradiction- a single crystal thin film is NOT and cannot be made of polycrystalline.

Claims 55-58, 61-63, 126-129, 182 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as based on a disclosure which is not enabling. The Applicant claims forming a single crystal film by forming a polycrystalline film, the claim does not teach how the polycrystalline film is used to make a single crystalline film therefore this is critical or essential to the practice of the invention, but not included in the claim(s) is not enabled by the disclosure. See In re Mayhew, 527 F.2d 1229, 188 USPQ 356 (CCPA 1976).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 55-58, 61-63, 126-129, 182 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112: Where applicant acts as his or her own lexicographer to specifically define a term of a claim contrary to its ordinary meaning, the written description must clearly redefine the claim term and set forth the uncommon definition so as to put one reasonably skilled in the art on notice that the applicant intended to so redefine that claim term. Process Control Corp. v. HydReclaim Corp., 190 F.3d 1350, 1357, 52 USPQ2d 1029, 1033 (Fed. Cir. 1999). The term “single crystal thin film” in claim 126 is used by the claim to mean “a polycrystalline thin film”, while the accepted meaning is “monocrystalline.” The term is indefinite because the specification does not clearly redefine the term.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

Art Unit: 2813
